THE SETTANTA LOUNGE CHAIR

A tribute to 1970s design language — sculptural, tufted, and grounded in warm, tactile materiality.

The SETTANTA Lounge Chair draws its name and spirit from the 1970s, reviving the decade's love of sweeping silhouettes, deep tufting, and sculptural mass. Its curved, cocoon-like form wraps continuously from backrest to seat, framed by a sinuous metal profile that traces the chair's edge like a drawn line.

The biscuit-tufted upholstery lends a soft, plush texture, while the sculpted wood base — finished in a liquid metal lacquer — grounds the piece with quiet, sculptural weight. Every curve is designed to be experienced from every angle, making SETTANTA as compelling in profile as it is head-on.

Shown here in Linen, the SETTANTA Lounge Chair is available in the full range of Robicara fabrics, and can be produced in customer's own material or leather (COM/COL) for a fully bespoke result.

FORM, COMFORT & DETAIL

Every SETTANTA chair begins with a sculpted wood base, hand-finished in a liquid metal lacquer that catches the light along its faceted surfaces. The seat and backrest are built as one continuous, biscuit-tufted form, upholstered by Italian artisans, then wrapped in a slender metal profile finished in a warm patina that outlines the chair's silhouette from headrest to footrest.

The result is a piece that feels at once vintage and new — an homage to 1970s glamour, rebuilt with contemporary comfort and precision craftsmanship.
