

Saxum Side table

SAXUM explores the dialogue between primitive stone and sculpted metal. The side table combines a hand-finished solid steel or solid brass base with a monolithic marble top, creating a composition that appears both grounded and suspended. Defined by organic contours and rich materiality, each piece celebrates the natural character of stone while maintaining a refined architectural presence.

As marble is a natural, organic material, every slab is inherently unique in its veining, coloration, movement, and character. Combined with the different marble options available, these natural variations ensure that every SAXUM piece is truly one of a kind.

Offered in a curated selection of marbles and handcrafted metal patinas, including Black Washed Steel, Acidated Brass, and Brunito Délavré Brass. Custom finishes and bespoke material combinations are available upon request. Handcrafted in Italy.

For more detailed information, and the full list of finishes available for this item please visit https://robicara.com/saxum_sidetable/

