THE NUMA SIDE TABLE

A study in balance between weight and lightness — solid marble and warm metal in quiet dialogue.

Numa is a study in balance between weight and lightness. A solid marble pillar with softly rounded edges meets a slender brushed bronze-finish metal frame, together supporting a square marble top.

The asymmetry is deliberate: stone and metal hold the surface in quiet dialogue, each defining the space the other leaves open. The bold veining of the marble makes every piece unique, while the warm metal adds a refined, architectural accent.

A sculptural presence beside a sofa or armchair, in residential or hospitality settings.

FORM, MATERIAL & DETAIL

Every Numa is crafted in natural marble and hand-finished by Italian artisans. The pillar is shaped with softly rounded edges and paired with a slender C-shaped metal frame in a brushed bronze finish, which rises from a flat base to support the square top and leaves the space beneath open and light.

Because the stone is natural, veining and tone vary from piece to piece: no two tables are alike.

NUMA IN VERDE ALPI

The same architecture, a different voice. In Verde Alpi, the deep green stone and its fine white veining give Numa a darker, more contemplative presence, while a polished metal frame catches and reflects the marble around it.

Every Numa can be composed with any Robicara marble and metal patina, to suit the project.
